Foreign representatives who were present at the battle of Santiago pronounced it the most remarkable naval engagement in the history of the world. There was plenty of evidence before them to inspire that view of the affair, and the Journal's expedition, having taken hundreds of photographs of the scene, is able Sunday next to show the American people just how frightful the dostruction was. No finer group of pletures ever graced an American newspaper, and every scene that amounts to anything will be shown in half-tone cuts. They tell the awful story of the great damage done, and the civilized world will wonder at the execution o skilful gunners. Every American should get a copy of the Journal of that date ie it will become valuable . Hory. "

Match Between Hamburg and Ornament.

FURTHER RELIEF NEEDED. NO DECISION ANNOUNCED.

No New Improvements Possible Only Long Shot Yesterday to Win Was Beaufort in the Jumpers' Race.

By Francis Trevelyan.

A special race between Hamburg and Ornament was not arranged yesterday, though Marcus Daly suddenly and unexpectedly "bobbed up" at Brighton Beach. His presence will surely facilitate matters, for he is a man who scarcely knows how to the Municipal Assembly, the o take a call, and when it comes to making a sporting bet, is second to no man in the

Mr. W. P. Norton said that he had heard nothing from the other side on the matter of matching the cracks. He amplified his original proposal by saying that, if Marcus Daly fancied it, he would be willing to run Ornament against Ogden. Lakeland had said earlier in the afternoon that, as far as he was concerned, he would be pleased to start Hamburg against Ornament, but that he would not wish to do so until after the Brighton Cup event had been run on July 30. Mr. Daly went over to Lakeland's stable to look over his horse soon after his arrival at the track, and there a decision as to the final answer to be given to Messrs. lem 1,483,000.00 Headley & Norton was doubtless reached.

The affair is likely to be talked out to-day and some arrangement made.
